The application has been amended as follows:

Change Title To: --A Liquid Crystal Display Device With Dummy Segment Electrodes and Dummy Common Electrodes--

Allowable Subject Matter

- 1. Claims 10 and 30-33 allowed.
- 2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record, taken alone or in combination, fails to teach or disclose in light of the specifications, a liquid crystal display device comprising a dummy segment electrode; a dummy common electrode, the dummy segment electrode is disposed outside the segment electrodes, and the dummy common electrode is disposed outside the common electrode; wherein the dummy segment electrode receives a dummy segment signal signal waveform so that an effective voltage value between the dummy segment signal waveform and any waveform of the driving common signal waveform and any waveform of the driving common electrode receives a dummy common signal waveform so that an effective voltage applied across the liquid crystal layer, and the dummy common electrode receives a dummy common signal waveform so that an effective voltage value between the dummy common signal waveform and any waveform of the driving segment signals exceeds the selection voltage applied across the liquid crystal layer, whereby dots formed by the dummy segment electrode and the common electrodes and dots formed by the dummy common electrode and the segment electrodes are places in a normally ON state.
